Professional Summary

Motivated and resilient software engineer with strong expertise in React, Next.js, and TypeScript, complemented by full-stack experience in Node.js, Express, and PostgreSQL. Skilled in building scalable, responsive, and user-friendly applications across startup and enterprise environments.

With over 10 years in web development and 100+ completed projects, I bring not only technical depth but also proven leadership experience in product delivery and project management. After relocating to the Netherlands under the EU Temporary Protection Directive, I've successfully rebuilt my career while working in both compliance and software development. Now seeking a full-time engineering role to contribute to a mission-driven product team and continue growing as a professional.
